Selling real estate well can be an art form. Heath and his team are aware of how life changing an amazing sale process can be and always strive to make both buying and selling an exciting and enjoyable experience. With nearly 20 years of industry experience providing invaluable insights into the selling process - The Northern Districts property market in particular, Heath has identified it is all about the needs and values of his clients and continually strives to exceed their expectations with outstanding service. Heath has constantly set the benchmark higher for himself and his team. Heath and his team of professionals have managed all manner of sales, achieving a sales volume just shy of one billion dollars in that time. Heath has set numerous suburb and street records throughout the region, mainly assisting his clients in Epping, Eastwood, Carlingford and Denistone. A proud local resident, Heath is heavily involved with his community, sponsoring several schools, sporting clubs, the Epping Football Club and other local organisations. With an impeccable track record of achieving outstanding results for his clients, Heath's expertise and guidance will be immeasurable when buying or selling your next home.
